

Riverside County Market Intelligence

CRMLS residential, January 2024 – June 2026 — prices froze; the market-makers didn't.

EMORY WILLIAMS · IDX EXCHANGE DATA ANALYST INTERNSHIP · SUMMER 2026

$600K median close price — unchanged 2024, 2025, and 2026 H1	$321 median price per sq ft — unchanged all three years	34 days avg days on market, 2026 H1 (31 in 2024)	98.0% avg sale-to-ask ratio, 2026 H1 (98.6% in 2024)
--	---	---	---

MARKET OVERVIEW

Riverside’s price level has not moved in thirty months — the change is in how long selling takes. The median closed at exactly $600,000 in 2024, in 2025, and again through June 2026: a round-number focal price, corroborated by a per-square-foot median likewise frozen at $321, which rules out a mix-shift artifact. What drifted is pace — average days on market rose from 31 to 34, about 10% slower.

PRICING TRENDS

Sellers are conceding at the margin, not on price. The sale-to-ask ratio slipped from 0.986 to 0.980 — under one point, but every year of the window closed below asking. Negotiation, not repricing, is the only pricing dial that has moved.

MARKET ACTIVITY

2026 is the first year supply pulled away from sales: 1.36 new listings per closed sale in H1 2026, versus roughly 1.02 in each of the two prior years — a gap of +4,644 listings over sales in six months. H1 sales (13,047) run at about half of either prior full year, before seasonal adjustment.

COMPETITIVE LANDSCAPE

While volume froze, the leaderboard reshuffled. A regional independent — Equity Union — now runs the county’s #1 office by closed listing sides, in a 20-side dead heat with Coldwell Banker Realty and Compass. At brand level, Coldwell Banker remains largest and growing (6.3→7.0% of listing sides), Century 21 3.4→4.4%, Compass 3.1→3.9%; Keller Williams slipped 5.5→4.9% and Opendoor wound down 0.8→0.2%. It mirrors California at large: Compass leads the state at $23.7B of 2024 volume, insurgent brands are doubling their affordable-tier share — and only 21 of 500 (then 16 of 495) top producers changed brands, so the race is being won through listing acquisition, not agent movement.

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- Prices haven’t moved: median $600,000 and $321/sq ft are flat across 2024–2026, while days on market drifted from 31 to 34.
- Supply is pulling ahead: H1 2026 logged 1.36 new listings per closed sale versus ~1.02 in both prior years — the widest gap in the window.
- The top is a dead heat: Equity Union (473 sides) leads Coldwell Banker Realty (457) and Compass (453) by under 5% in 2026 H1.
- Share shifted even as volume froze: Coldwell 6.3→7.0%, Century 21 3.4→4.4%, Compass 3.1→3.9%; Keller Williams 5.5→4.9%, Opendoor 0.8→0.2%.
- What to watch: if listings-per-sale holds above ~1.2 through H2 2026, the first crack in the $600K median should appear in sale-to-ask before it appears in price.

CRMLS closed residential sales, Riverside County, Jan 2024 – Jun 2026; 2026 = Jan-Jun only, never annualized. 255 placeholder records excluded from rankings; sale-to-ask guarded to (0,2]; DOM and ratio averages on the IQR-filtered base; medians and counts on all rows. Mid-year the listings-per-sale ratio is upward-biased (some H1 listings close in H2); the direction of the 2026 gap survives the bias. Dashboards: public.tableau.com/app/profile/emory.williams · Code: github.com/jackemorywilliams-bit/idx-exchange-su26